The story is set in Paris and its suburbs, around 1850.

The well-bred Alfredo Germont falls in love with a demimonde, Violetta Valéry. He convinces her to give up her old life and follow him. They live in happy love, in a small house near Paris, when Alfredo's father visits Violetta. He soon has to realize that Violetta is not like he thought she was, moreover, he appeals to her noble heart when asking her to break up with Alfredo, because this affaire would blast his marriage plans. Finally Violetta gives in to him, she even agrees not to tell her lover the reason why she is leaving him. The next time Alfredo meets Violetta at a party he asks her to come back to him. The woman rejects him, though with an aching heart. The woman, who has tuberculosis, is dying alone in her room. The old Germont's conscience is not clear, so he tells his son that he was the one who put up Violetta to break up with him. Alfredo rushes to his lover, who dies in his arms.

The performance is supported by TVK Nyrt.

„Elméletem szerint az a világ fővárosa, ahol éppen a legszebben énekelnek. Magyarország fővárosa szombaton Miskolc volt. De lehet, hogy Európa fővárosa is. Ha valaki azt mondja, hogy a világ fővárosa Miskolc, azt is elhiszem neki.”

(Fáy Miklós zenekritikus – Népszabadság, 2003. december 16.)
